THOSE INSULTS

Senator Sherman Thinks Were Greatly Exaggerated.

HE STRONGLY FAVORS A COALING STATION AT PANGO PANGO

For the Reason 'That It Would Be Beneficial to Trade—We Should Go to War, If Necessary, to Keep Any Foreign Government From Seizing the Islands—Germans to Be Reinforced.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Senator Sherman says in regard to the appropriation of $500,000 to preserve the execution of the obligations and protection of the United States existing under the treaty between the United States and Samoa, that he is not at liberty to discuss the measure, as it is an executive affair, and that the money will be used under the direction of the president.

"The committee," he says, "are in possession of facts regarding the situation in Samoa which gives them a much clearer insight of how matters are than is generally known. We have had before us a young gentleman, a Democrat, who has spent over a year in that country and is thoroughly familiar with the country and the people. His testimony to a certain extent might be biased, still the facts brought ought have been very useful and instructive to the committee. The news received from Auckland and San Francisco I regard as somewhat exaggerated. It is true the German gunboats bombarded the villages and afterward burned them, including houses belonging to Americans, but I can hardly believe they deliberately burned the American flag. But if such should turn out to be true, that alters matters considerably."

"But what is that coaling station at Pango Pango?"

"It was decreed to us by old King Malietoa, but we sent only one cargo of coal there and, at the present time, there is not a pound there. This harbor is perfectly protected by the island of Tutuila."

"There is always over forty feet of water, and it is most admirably adapted for a coaling station. We ought to send at least 100,000 tons of coal there. With the competition of the Panama and Nicaragua canal it would be in a direct line with trade for Australia. You can readily see the advantage it would be for us to have a station at that point."

"Now communication is somewhat limited. A steamer from San Francisco, after leaving Honolulu, stops at Rose Island where mails are dropped. This is 150 miles from Apia and the only communication is by a small steamer owned by Germans, and they exact exorbitant charges for carrying the mail. We ought to have steamers of our own. There about one hundred Americans on these islands and I think, looking to the future, it would be the very best thing the government could do to establish and maintain this coaling station."

"The time has arrived when Americans must look to interests outside their own country. With the completion of the canal it will open up a large trade, and we want the best share of it. Large quantities of fruits are growing on the islands, and they are naturally very rich. They also produce sugar, coffee, cotton, spices and guavas, and will in a few years be among the richest islands in the Pacific. I hope the government will occupy and improve the harbor of Pango Pango without delay."

Should Go to War If Necessary.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The Samoan troubles still continue to be the topic of discussion in congressional circles. Senators Frye and Sherman, members of the committee on foreign relations, in conversation on the subject, expressed the opinion that the government of the United States should go to war if necessary to prevent any foreign government from seizing the islands, and all members of the committee are said to be of the same opinion.

The secret agreement with Germany and England, entered into by Secretary Bayard, has not been disclosed, but it is believed on the Republican side of the senate chamber that it gives Germany undue prominence in the islands. Republican senators claim that Mr. Bayard had no authority to make such an agreement or treaty, but has acknowledged that he did come to some understanding which was out of the existing treaty with Samoa.

A member of the senate committee, discussing the general subject, said: "I would not be surprised at any moment to hear that Germany has seized the islands. She had an understanding with England to parcel out the islands in the Pacific, and this is what makes the Germans so careless of American interests. Mr. Sewall has expressed the opinion that such is the intention of Germany."

Mr. McCreary, chairman of the house committee on foreign relations, visited the state department Wednesday and looked over the Samoan correspondence. On his return to the capital, he said that he could see no obstacle in the way of settling the trouble by diplomacy. He said that he favored asserting the Monroe doctrine both in this matter and in the Panama canal resolution, which he thought his committee would unanimously adopt. A firm, vigorous and dignified foreign policy that would indicate that we knew what our rights were and were ready to assert and defend them, he thought, would settle these questions without war.

At the department of state nothing new is obtainable. The secretary will have nothing to say until he receives further advice from the scene of action.

Says There Is No Treaty.
BERLIN, Jan. 25.—The National Zeitung denies the existence of a treaty precluding any European power from acquiring, or seeking to acquire, the ascendancy in Samoa. It also denies that England and America have agreed upon any proceedings for the settlement of affairs in Samoa. The German agent in Samoa says that on the contrary such a treaty would be opposed to diplomatic etiquette, and has officially notified the foreign office at Berlin accordingly. The Zeitung continues: "The treaties between Samoa, Germany, England and America provide that Samoa concedes to each treaty power equal rights with any other power, but no treaty regarding neutrality or the independence of Samoa, exist between Germany and America."

Reinforcements for the Germans.
BREITENHAVEN, Jan. 25.—Naval reinforcements for the German fleet now in Samoan waters left here Wednesday on the North German Lloyd steamer Nurnberg.

Militia Removed From Samoa.
LONDON, Jan. 25.—A dispatch from Sydney, N. S. W., says that the German gunboat Olga has taken Malietoa, ex-king of Samoa, to the Marshall Islands.

They Defend the Germans.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—A copy of the Honolulu Bulletin of the 15th inst., received by steamer Wednesday, contains a circular issued by the German officers stationed at Samoa. It denies that the natives on the Samoan islands have been treated harshly by the Germans. The Germans affirm the statement that an American led the Matafaa men in the recent battle in which twenty-two Germans were killed.

Regarding Deliberate Treachery.
LONDON, Jan. 25.—The North German Gazette's article regarding Samoan treaties has created a sensation here, and is regarded as a deliberate defiance to the Washington government.

YANKEE FISHERMEN Will Have Their Lives Made a Bignien to Them by the Canucks.

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—It is understood in official circles here that henceforth the Dominion's policy toward American fishermen will be on the most stringent lines that can be consistently followed. This intention has gone so far that orders have been issued that no more modus vivendi licenses are to be given American fishermen, which, in effect, means the American fishermen cannot avail themselves of the compromise that was agreed to pending the acceptance or rejection of the Chamberlain treaty. There is a deep-seated conviction here that over since the Yankee fishermen have been allowed to visit Halifax and avail themselves of the modus vivendi they have abused the privilege offered them, and laugh in their sleeves at the gullibility of the Canucks.

More stringent regulations than ever are being arranged for promulgation during the coming fishing season, and the entire fleet of fishery cruisers will be given almost carte blanche in the matter of interfering with Yankee skippers and making life on the Nova Scotia and Cape Breton coasts a burden to them. It is broadly hinted here in circles opposed to Collector Ross, who is a Liberal, that he acted for no other reason to embarrass the Conservative government of Ottawa. There is an official report in existence here having as its most salient feature notes of divers light dinners and confabs held between Consul General Phelan at Halifax and the deposed collector.

FIGHTING MINERS. Several Lives Reported Lost in the West Virginia Coal Region.

ROANOKE, Va., Jan. 25.—Much excitement prevails here owing to the reports of rioting among the West Virginia coal regions. A fight is said to have occurred Wednesday morning between the Peachbottoms and Elk-horn miners in which five white men and two negroes were killed and several wounded.

The conflict was brought about by the Peachbottoms miners again suspending work and going to Elk-horn to induce a number of miners who had returned to work to again strike. A refusal to comply precipitated the fight. It is believed that the militia will be ordered out.

Knights Object to Armed Miners.
SEATTLE, W. T., Jan. 25.—The Knights of Labor have ordered a general lockout at the mines of the Oregon Improvement company to force the company to disarm the Miners' union. The knights charge the company with furnishing rifles to the Miners' union. The knights are also arming themselves. Superintendent McNeil has made concessions to the knights, in which the company reconsiders the original intention to refuse employment to knights. The company will make no further discrimination. This will probably induce the miners to disarm.

Hungarians vs. Italians.
SHENANDOAH, Pa., Jan. 25.—Rioting has again broken out between the Hungarians and Italian laborers, in the mines here and at Barry station, two miles distant. At the latter place, on Tuesday, during a fierce contest, a Hungarian shanty was set on fire and burned to the ground. A Hungarian who had been so badly beaten that he could not leave the shanty, was burned to death.

Hawaiian News.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—The steamer Australia arrived Wednesday from Honolulu, bringing news up to the 15th inst. The Hawaiian Gazette of January 15 says the king of Rarivatu and the queen of Rimatara, have arrived at Rarotonga, their mission being to have a British protectorate established over their islands. Being disappointed in this they drew up a pathetic petition to Queen Victoria and her prime minister, praying for the protection of the British flag over those islands, and the island of Maria. This petition has been forwarded to England.

Mine Gas Explosion.
WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 25.—A terrific explosion of gas took place Wednesday night in one of the slopes of the Susquehanna Coal company's mines at Nanticoke. Five mining engineers were engaged in surveying, assisted by Fire Boss Thomas Morgan and James O'Reilly, laborer. The gas took fire from a light carried by one of the engineers. Engineers William Sharpless and Chet Owen were instantly killed, and Morgan and O'Reilly fatally burned. The others, whose names are not now obtainable, were severely injured.

He Slept at His Post.
LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 25.—At the coroner's inquest, on the death of Conductor John C. Ryan, killed in a railroad collision near Columbia, Tuesday, William Rogers, engineer of the colliding engine, admitted that he had fallen asleep, as had his fireman, and was only awakened when too late to avoid the collision. The verdict was that the accident was caused by Rogers sleeping at his post. He had been on duty sixteen hours.

BUTTERWORTH

Again Startles Congress With His Eloquent Words.

HE DENOUNCES BOYCOTTERS IN SCATHING TERMS.

He Favors the Freedom of Non-Union Workmen or Revolution—Vice President Morton to Occupy Professor Bell's Former Residence—Chairman M. S. Quay and Son Go South.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Congressman Butterworth, in discussing the relative merits of hand and steam presses in the bureau of engraving, startled the house Wednesday by denouncing boycotts, etc. He said that the organization of the hand-plate printers had declared war upon the steam machines and had determined that they should go.

"If they ought to go on their merits let them go; but if they ought not to go on their merits, the fact that these gentlemen desire them to go was not the slightest reason for putting them out."

This was still America, and his boy had a right to work without asking the permission of any organization of men. If he could not, he (Mr. Butterworth) was in favor of revolution. [Applause.] He had been informed that as the steam pressmen went to work the 'Dead March' was whistled. It was true, it was an unspoken outrage committed within the shadow of the capitol. * * * He believed in standing by the blacksmith, not because he was a blacksmith, but because he was a man. * * * We have pretty near reached a condition of things in this country when nobody has the right to discharge.

"I recommend to the Knights of Labor to establish a whipping post in front of the capitol and lick about twenty-five members of the house on the last Saturday in each month. [Laughter.]

"I hope that in God's providence the time will come when our manhood will assert itself, and we will not sneak like paitroons, as I have seen the house do over and over again, at the dictates of some gentlemen in the galleries. [Applause.] I have compromised my manhood once or twice. I hope that the next time I do it I shall be paralyzed where I stand. [Applause.] We have witnessed enough of the vassalage of the senate and house and members of the government in various places. * * *

He approved of the combination of labor; but he did not approve of force being used to exclude an American from any walk of life or any calling. It was needless for any member to shut their eyes to the fact that some of those organizations had starved widows and orphans into compliance with their behests. While he in no way objected to organizations in the interest of men, wherever and however employed, he protested against the utilization of these organizations for the purpose of compelling obedience to their high behests, except by argument and the influence of moral suasion.

Mr. Crain, of Texas, said it would have been an advantage to the Democratic candidates in the late election if the gentleman from Ohio had delivered himself prior to the election of the utterances to which he had given vent; and if it were true, as suggested to him, that the gentleman had so expressed himself, he was perfectly satisfied that those utterances had not been greeted with that enthusiastic applause with which they had just been met.

Morton's Future Residence.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Vice President-elect Morton has secured for a residence in Washington the splendid house on the corner of Rhode Island avenue and N street, facing Scott circle. It belongs to Professor Alexander Graham Bell, of telephone fame, and has not been occupied since its restoration after the fire of two or three years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Morton are greatly pleased with the property, and propose to make only such changes and alterations as will better meet the exactions of their official position.

Mr. Quay Goes to Florida.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Senator Quay, accompanied by his son Richard, left for Florida Wednesday afternoon to remain until the end of February. The senator asked the United Press to announce that he would oppose the appointment to office of any man who applied to him for assistance prior to March 4.

LEGISLATURES.

Ohio.
Senate—A number of local bills were passed, and a joint resolution for a government fish hatchery on Lake Erie was adopted. Bills introduced: To prevent poaching in the Maumee, Sandusky and Mud Creek bays; making the salary of supreme court judges $6,000.

House—Bills passed: Allowing a vote on changing township school districts into village districts at any time; providing guardians for imbeciles or insane persons having property; giving justices and mayors final jurisdiction in cases providing for semi-monthly payment of wages; regulating the price of milk; providing for plugging abandoned or unused natural gas wells.

LATER.
Thursday, Senator Rannell's bill providing for executions by electricity was passed by the senate after being amended so as not to go into effect until April, 1890. The vote stood 20 to 3, the three opposed being Bradock, Lindsey and Wallace.

Indiana.
A long discussion arose in the house over a resolution requiring the auditor of state to appear before a committee and state whether he had ever paid out any money to Lieutenant Governor Robertson, and if so, out of what fund it was taken, and by what authority it was paid. The resolution was adopted by a party vote. A bill was introduced making twenty-five years a life-sentence in the state prisons and reformatories.

JOURNALISM.

Murat Halstead Talks on "The Maxims, Markets and Mission of the Press."

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 25.—Murat Halstead, of Cincinnati, addressed the Wisconsin editors Wednesday night on "The Maxims, Markets and Mission of the Press." Speaking of the great desire that exists among young men to enter the newspaper field, he said:

"There is no turnpike or railroad that leads into journalism. There are no vacancies for didactic amateurs. Nobody is wanted. And yet we are always looking out for somebody, and once in a while he comes. He does not ask for a place, but takes that which is his. Do not say to the young man there are no possibilities. There are certainly more than ever before. Young man, if you want to get into journalism, break in. Don't ask how. It is the finding of it out that will educate you to do the essential thing. The young man must enter the newspaper office by man strength and awkwardness and make a place for himself."

John McGay, cashier of the Park National bank of Chicago, was arrested Wednesday charged with embezzlement. He confessed to having taken $1,500. McGay came to Chicago from New York quite recently. The money was taken in small sums, and he thought he could pay it; he apparently had no bad habits, and received a fair salary.

Mrs. Amelia Rives-Chanier has offered a prize of $100 for the best American essay on child labor. The money has been placed in the hands of Professor Richard T. Ely, of Baltimore, secretary of the American Economic association, and was received by Mrs. Chanier for some sonnets on the subject. The essay must not exceed 2,500 words, and must be in Professor Ely's hands not later than December 2, 1889.

Andrew Egner, of Cincinnati, who, on November 6 and 7, 1874, with the assistance of his son and a man named George Ruffer, murdered and burned in the furnace at Frieberg's tannery, Herman Schilling, died Wednesday at his home. He was sentenced to be hanged for the murder, but on a new trial was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. During Governor Foster's administration he was pardoned. The murder was noted for its brutality, and was known as the "Tan-yard Murder."

Lancaster Industrial School Troubles.
LANCASTER, O., Jan. 25.—The troubles in the boy's industrial school have been settled by the resignation of Superintendent Charles Douglass, which was requested by the board of trustees. On the third ballot Capt David M. Barrett, of Hillsboro, was elected to the position.

Stock, Field and Farm.

Colonel W. W. Baldwin, of Maysville, was on the market Wednesday last. While Mr. Baldwin does not subscribe to the no crop idea, he proposes to largely reduce the tobacco acreage of his large farm this year—about one-half.—Western Tobacco Journal.

The highest price ever paid for a yearling trotter is $12,500, this amount changing hands when Miller & Sibley, of Franklin, Pa., recently purchased from Senator Stanford, of California, Bell, a son of Electioneer and Beautiful Bell. He is a full brother to Hinda Rose, 2:19; Bell Boy, 2:19; Saint Bell, 2:24; and Chimes, 2:30.

A reliable authority places the wool import of the United States at 115,000,000 pounds of which 18,000,000 were for clothing, and 85,000,000 for carpets. Most of this wool was imported from England. The direct importation from South America was comparatively small except from Uruguay, which, with 16,000,000 sheep, sent us last year 2,585,000 pounds of clothing wool.

A special says: "About two thousand farmers and others interested in tobacco-raising met at Brooksville last Monday to organize against raising a crop in the burley district next season. Speeches were made by Green R. Keller, of Nicholas County, and others, besides local talent. Very little of the crop of 1888 has been sold, and a number are still holding the 1887 crop. This is the largest gathering of farmers ever seen in the county.

EX-LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR UNDERWOOD removed from Covington to Columbus, O., this week. The following from the Louisville Times will find a warm endorsement from the gentleman's acquaintances in this section: "Kentucky loses a distinguished citizen of boundless energy and the biggest of hearts."

JOHN McHENRY, a farmer living near West Union, O., while butchering a few days since made a queer find. In the stomach of one of the hogs he discovered fifty-eight horse-shoe nails, twenty-seven little pieces of iron, a small bolt, a link from a trace chain and eighteen pieces of stone. The Georgetown News-Democrat is authority for this statement.

THE Times has discovered a couple in Louisville, who, after a married life of twenty years, have twenty living children, and another with fourteen youngsters after fourteen years of marital bliss. An old negro of the same city, however, claims to have thirty-two sons and daughters, many of whom he does not know and the number of his wives he is unable to recall.

STANLEY NEWS

The Chief Topic of the London Newspaper.

RUMORS PUBLISHED ONE DAY AND PROMPTLY DENIED THE NEXT.

Some of Them Claim to Know More Than They Dare Divulge—French and German Papers Severely Censure the English Government—Commencement of William O'Brien's Trial—Foreign Notes.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—There are more daily rumors about Stanley which are discussed and then promptly denied the next day. To a disinterested person the tone of injury and exasperation with which the journals speak of the African explorer, would be ludicrous were the subject of less importance, but the anxiety concerning Stanley's whereabouts overweighs trifling considerations, and the expressions of people and press are only natural. It is undeniable that the greatest concern still exists, which the alleged letter to Tippoo Tib has rather increased than allayed.

Some of the London journals utter mysterious hints that they know more than they dare divulge, some appear to be afraid that the peculiar hints of the others are true, and in the meanwhile the general public is disposed to anathematize both them and the king of the Belgians, who is supposed to have received letters which he will not give to the world. Those most likely to know the truth of the matter do not believe that his majesty is any better informed than the least of his subjects, and it is probable that men like Mr. Mackinnon, of the East African company, would be included among the first recipients of any news from Stanley.

In the meantime all the exploded scandals about the intrepid explorer are being revamped. He is charitably included among these whom African travel has rendered subject to the mania, which has attacked so many who have felt themselves unable to keep away for any length of time from the dark continent, after once having felt its weird fascinations, and it is hinted that as no white man who ever started with him for the interior, has lived to contradict Stanley's assertions as to his wanderings and discoveries, so it will be found that none of his present Caucasian associates will ever return with or without him.

The German and French papers accuse in no measured terms the English government of concealing information which it has received concerning the expedition really undertaken with its assistance, as they do not hesitate to say, and they call for some explanation of the affair. Representations to the contrary have not satisfied them, and in despair at being unable to force the hand of the premier they demand that his Belgian majesty shall be made to divulge what he knows.

One feature which renders the report of Emin Bey's victory over the mahdi doubly welcome is that if the news be true it was in all probability due to reinforcements and arms that he must have obtained from Stanley.

William O'Brien's Trial.

DUBLIN, Jan. 25.—Mr. William O'Brien's trial has begun at Carrick-on-Suir, County Waterford. The government had proclaimed the demonstration which was being organized to welcome the Irish leader. Nevertheless 20,000 people gathered about the court house to see him when he came.

Six hundred policemen, with drawn batons, charged upon the crowd clapping right and left, but they were unable to disperse the throng, whose excitement reached a feverish point. When Mr. O'Brien appeared and entered the court the crowd cheered vociferously. Mr. Timothy Healy, member of parliament, defended Mr. O'Brien in the trial.

Messrs. Denis Kilbride, member of parliament for Kerry, and James L. Carrow, member of parliament from Kildare, have refused to answer summons for offenses under the coercion act. Warrants for their arrest have been issued by a Kildare magistrate.

Farewell to Phelps.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The stars and stripes float side by side with the union jack over the mansion house to-day and inside a small army of workmen is busily engaged in magnificently decorating the main banquetting hall. Here to-night Minister Phelps will be the guest of the lord mayor at a farewell banquet given in his honor in view of his approaching departure to the United States, and a distinguished company, representing both shades of politics, literature, science, art, etc., has been invited to meet him. The complaisant tendered to the American minister is an unusual one.

Slave Trade Unchecked.

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—The Deutsche Werchblatt prints a Zanzibar letter which says that the blockade on the east coast of Africa has only fomented disorder, and has failed to check the slave trade. The writer complains of a lack of energy on the part of the German consul, and says that if Sir John Kirk returns to Zanzibar as British consul, as reported, it will mean the restoration of absolute English supremacy. The writer accuses England of stirring up the feeling against the Germans.

Marlborough and Wife May Separate.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Dumaine Rumor says that since the return of the duchess of Marlborough from the south of France the duke claims to have discovered in her certain peculiarities of temper which are not at all to his taste. Legal developments are looked for. The sympathy of the people at Blenheim is all on the side of the duchess.

De Lesseps and Boulenger.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—De Lesseps gave a dinner party Wednesday night in honor of Gen. Boulenger. The general conversed much and with great interest with his host on the subject of the Panama canal, and expressed a hope for the success of the enterprise.

Hint to the Newly Vaccinated.

"I've got a good ripe vaccination sore on my left arm," said a friend to Bilkins, "and every clump of idiot I meet jostles against that aforesaid arm and raises the scab and my temper, and that reminds me, Bilkins, I'll give you a pointer. When you get vaccinated bare your strong right arm for that saving but sore operation, and as you keep to the right, clumsy pedestrians can't possibly run against the vaccinated limb," and Bilkins made up his mind he had got a straight pointer.—Buffalo Express.

PRELLER'S GHOST

Said to Be Haunting the Southern Hotel, St. Louis.

St. Louis, Jan. 25.—The tragedy enacted on April 5, 1885, in room 144 of the Southern hotel is revived by the strange experience of the guests who have recently occupied the apartment. It was in room 144 that Maxwell chloroformed Preller to death, robbed the remains and then packed them in a trunk. The room was not occupied for many months afterward, and such a horror was developed in the traveling public's mind that the hotel found it impossible to utilize the room, and in order to remove the ghastly dread of "144" the number was changed to "133." The nerves of several drummers were first tested, and only two exhibited signs of a collapse the next morning. The experience of one guest was told Monday. The gentleman is a prominent commercial traveler, of well-balanced mind, sound intellect and good, broad common sense. This is his remarkable story, given in his own language:

"I knew nothing at all about the room when I took it—in fact, the Maxwell-Preller incident had wholly escaped me. I went to bed at my usual hour, and was awakened with a start by hearing a strange tapping against the head of the bed. 'Tap, tap, tap,' was the order in which they came, one disconnected tap and then two in quick succession. I was aroused in an instant, but heard nothing more, and concluded the tapping was caused by the cracking of the glue. The same tapping occurred several other times during the night, but I dismissed it on the comfortable theory I have just mentioned. The next evening I noticed that the drawers of the bureau would always open however often I closed them. I pushed them in whenever I passed near the bureau but they would invariably open again as though forced open by some unseen agency. Still I was not alarmed.

"The most startling occurrence and the one which finally decided me to leave the room came on the third night. I had noticed that the chambermaid had entirely cleared the hearth of debris, and not so much as a scrap of paper was left in it. I was thrown from deep slumber into absolute wakefulness about 1 o'clock by an explosion on the hearth that sounded like the explosion of a big firecracker. I was scared, you can bet. A second explosion, a little louder followed, and then came a third, which cupped the climax. It was terribly violent, and the detonation was fearful. I arose, dressed, lighted the gas, and looked at the hearth. It was completely filled with a silty substance that looked like ore of some kind, and one of the large cubes that made up the mass was torn from the brickwork or tiling. Pieces of slate were thrown across the room. I went down stairs and told the night clerk to come right up to the room and see what had happened. He refused with a sickly smile.

"I returned to the room, passed a sleepless night and changed my room the next day. I then learned from a friend the history of the room and one or two things that hitherto had been inexplicable to me then became painfully clear. I noticed the bell boys would get out of the room as quickly as they could, not waiting for the occasional tip which I held to them, nor could I get an answer when I rang the bell after 10 o'clock at night. I found out that at that hour the lights in the hall were turned out and the bell boys would not go through the corridor after that time at any price. I give these facts for what they are worth, without comment or explanation. I am not a spiritualist or a believer in their theories. I was absolutely sober, too, as I seldom take a drink."

The manager of the hotel, Mr. Lewis, had nothing to say when the story was told him, nor could he suggest any explanation.

Delving into the Past.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25.—Rev. H. Clay Trumbull has received a dispatch from Dr. H. Hilprecht, a member of the Babylonian expedition commission of the University of Pennsylvania, announcing the arrival of the expedition in Bagdad. Great difficulties were experienced by the explorers in reaching that city, but as they are now in the valley of the Tigris and Euphrates, within a comparatively short distance of the site of the ancient Babylon, it is expected that excavations will be begun at once. The sultan's firman, it is stated, at present only grants permission to dig for antiquities, but does not allow them to be carried out of the country.

No Chance for Banerisen.

GENEVA, Ill., Jan. 25.—Judge Wilson, of the circuit court, has refused to grant a new trial to Banerisen, the alleged Chicago, Burlington and Quincy dynamiter, who was recently found guilty and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Inhumanly Whipped a Woman.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 25.—Tuesday night six men broke into the home of Mrs. Lou Wright, near Bryan's creek, dragged her from her bed, and, while two stood guard over the husband, the others tied the woman to a tree and whipped her mercilessly with the limbs of trees. She had received threatening letters, reflecting upon her previous character, but had not heeded them.

Poison in an Old Well.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 25.—James Roberts, William Conner, Frank Kritz and J. E. Thomas, of Waveland, a small town south of here, drank water out of an abandoned well a few days ago, and were all taken violently ill shortly afterward. Thomas has since died, and the lives of the others are despaired of. The physicians are all at sea.

The Effect of Using Gasoline.

ELKHART, Ind., Jan. 25.—Wednesday morning, while Martin Houseman was building a fire with the aid of a can of gasoline, the latter exploded, and Mr. Houseman and his wife were so terribly burned that it is thought Houseman at least cannot recover, and if his wife lives she will be badly disfigured.

Exploded While Testing.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25.—While in the act of making a trial of a new locomotive turned out of the Blairsville shops of the Pennsylvania railroad Wednesday the boiler exploded, killing Hugh Connell, one of the company's machinists, and injuring William Scott and T. A. Penny, two employes.

Grandeur of a Buried City.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 25.—Wednesday near the ruins of Palenquena a long buried edifice was uncovered, exceeding in grandeur anything yet known in the proofs of the existence of the ancient city.

A Sheriff Absconds.

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., Jan. 25.—L. L. Kible, sheriff of Boyd county, made an assignment at 10 p. m. Wednesday and left town before daylight this morning.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A Marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 10 Wall St., New York.

Caught Under a Falling Wall.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 25.—A gang of workmen on the first floor of the building at Fifth and Vine streets, which is being torn down for Mahley & Carow's new building, were badly hurt, one of them fatally, by the sudden caving in of a wall about 10:30 a. m. The second story wall was being pulled down with ropes when its great weight caused the wall to collapse, burying the men with debris. The injured are: William Arison, aged forty-five, fatally; John Hope, cut on the head; Pat. Cooney, slightly injured; Henry Nulty and George Barnett, bruised about the head and shoulders; Charles Barrett, head cut.

Taking a Trip East.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25.—Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. J. Robert McKee, wife and daughter of President-elect Harrison, accompanied by John Wanamaker, passed through this city on the limited express at 7 o'clock a. m. The party were bound for Philadelphia, where several days will be spent at Mr. Wanamaker's residence, after which Mrs. Harrison and daughter will visit New York city, the guests of Vice President-elect Morton.

Eating with the Fingers.

The notions which still eat with the fingers defied the practice on the ground of cleanliness. A Malay gentleman regards the use of a fork much as we should think of the use of a borrowed toothpick. He is troubled by the reflection that it has been in other mouths and that some lazy servant may have neglected to wash it properly. The care of his fingers are in his own charge, and he knows that they are clean and that they have never been in any one's else mouth.—Popular Science Monthly.

Singular Facial Accidents.

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 25.—A most singular dent of a young man, Clarke Stanley, occurred at Shelby. One day recently he was on his farm chasing a cow with a fence piling in his hand. One end of the stick struck the ground while his body was thrown against the other. He was punctured in the groin so severely that he died in a few hours.

The Weather.

Indications—Threatening weather, with light local rains; generally stationary temperature; variable winds, generally southwesterly along the lakes.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

If You Are Sick

With Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Blood Humors, Kidney Disease, Constipation, Female Troubles, Fever and Ague, Sleeplessness, Partial Paralysis, or Nervous Prostration, use Paine's Celery Compound and be cured. In each of these the cause is mental or physical overwork, anxiety, exposure or malaria, the effect of which is to weaken the nervous system, resulting in one of these diseases. Remove the cause with that great Nerve Tonic, and the result will disappear.

Paine's Celery Compound

Jas. L. Bowen, Springfield, Mass., writes:—"Paine's Celery Compound cannot be excelled as a Nerve Tonic. In my case a single bottle wrought a great change. My nervous system entirely disappeared, and with it the resulting affection of the stomach, heart and liver, and the whole tone of the system was wonderfully invigorated. I tell my friends, if sick as I have been, Paine's Celery Compound."
